Mrs. T. J. Myers will have guests to a house party, beginning Monday of next week. Her guests, who are Kansas City women, will be: Mrs. George M. Myers, Mrs. C. E. Foote, Mrs. W. H. Ehlers, Mrs. Ferd Crampton, Mrs. J. C. Fitts.

The out of town visitors will be guests at a bridge club meeting at which Mrs. Myers will be hostess next Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. S. E. Devendorf of 1125 Tyler street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Alice Devendorf, to Mr. David W. Ludwig of Frankfort, Kan., which took place today.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig left for their home in Frankfort this afternoon.

The Art club will meet Monday with Mrs. Luther Burns at her apartments, 512 Harrison street.

A number of years ago the Topeka Federation of Clubs established a kindergarten on the East side. The institution grew so rapidly and met with such favor from the people of the community where it was placed, that the public school board was asked to make it a part of the system. It has since been conducted in connection with the Parkside school. Miss Lulu McKee, who had been doing kindergarten work in St. Joseph, Mo., was asked to come to Topeka to take charge of the East side kindergarten. She has since been its teacher.

Friday afternoon an Easter party was given for the children of the kindergarten, and the mothers of the children, as well as little sisters and brothers, and some West side friends of Miss McKee were asked as guests. The children had made elaborate preparations for the party, and had constructed Easter baskets that were given as favors. Miss Gertrude Bauer, who often visits the school, sent to each member of the kindergarten a blue Easter gift, and the parents of the children furnished a simple birthday luncheon, for one of the little girls celebrated her sixth birthday anniversary yesterday.

The children of the kindergarten at given a great deal of freedom which they use with wise discrimination, lest some of it be forfeited. There is no compulsion about their performances. The numbers of the program were all volunteered, and indeed, they urged upon the teacher, and a child approached the task of entertaining his elders with any feeling of fear or awkwardness. He sang or danced because he liked to. All of the children of the circle were permitted to do a little dance—they call it a skip—and each one skipped in his own individual fashion, each drawing on his own imagination for the character or idea he wished to represent. One vigorous young dancer, with a belligerent air, presented his notion of a German soldier, and a tiny blue-eyed girl wished it understood that she represented spring scattering flowers.

After the entertainment, tables were arranged for the spread. Dolly, who was 6 years old, was given a table by herself, with the privilege of choosing the guests who should sit with her. Her first choice was her baby sister. Six children were chosen to make their birthday wishes for Dorothy and extinguish a candle on the cake. One sturdy youngster expressed his wish for the virtue of obedience and her longevity thus: "I wish you'd mind your mamma and not get dead." Another hoped that Santa Claus would visit her soon.

The children have one year in kindergarten, entering at the age of 5 and going into the grades the next year. They are taught simple handwriting, and the teacher follows the plan of teaching the children simple lessons in government, patriotism, nature studies, etc., that are illustrated or suggested by the seasons, public festivals, or incidents of school life.

The club women who first fostered the kindergarten still maintain their interest in its success.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kohl entertained the members of the Friday Evening club and other guests at their home on Harrison street this week with cards. Those who played were: Mr. and Mrs. E. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. G. Rutter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Stansfield, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sillix, Mr. and Mrs. L. Masching, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Treesh, Miss Hazel Sillix, Miss Gladys Stansfield, Miss Thelma Stansfield, Miss Adella Kohl, Mr. F. Hartman, Mr. Alfred Treesh and Dr. C. A. Wyatt. Mrs. Sillix and Mr. Stansfield won the prizes.

Miss Louise Shields, formerly religious director of the Brooklyn Y. W.

C. A. will speak Sunday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. vesper service on "Eternal Youth." The songs, "The Bells Are Ringing the Easter Peal," and "He Is Risen," will be sung by a chorus, the members of which are: Miss Genevieve Lawrence, Miss Pearl Klausner, Miss Alice Kersey, Miss Mary Aten, Miss Ethel Everingham, Miss Phyllis King, Miss Roxanna Proctor, Miss Gladys King, Miss Katherine Carr, Miss Jennie Maxwell, Miss Margaret Gordon, Miss Ava Green, Miss Alma Sauke, and Miss Carrie Rickey. The chorus is directed by Miss Jennie Blinn.

Putty colored poplin has been developed into this newest of models which has adopted, as its own, some very old features and some less than ten years old. The box pleated skirt is of recent memory while the jet trimming dates back to the younger ing from the lobby of privately owned public utilities. The state already has a law allowing the city to own their public utilities, but that law is subject to repeal by such laws as were introduced in the last session, prohibiting the public ownership of utilities. The object was to make sure the city had the right to municipal ownership of those utilities by making it a constitutional amendment. Mr. Talbot made an urgent plea to the club to study the question of city self government, and lend their assistance to getting the amendment before the people. He also explained that the clause providing that the laws of the city be subject to the state constitution, precluded the possibility of any city's choice of policy contrary to the state's prohibitory law.

At the beginning of the meeting Miss Birdine Chandler sang for the company, and Mrs. Joseph Hicks gave a reading. Upwards of a hundred members, and a number of guests, outside of the club, attended the meeting last night.

Mrs. Cyrus Monroe will entertain her bridge club Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. W. L. Thomas, of Chicago, executive secretary of the Woman's Peace Party, who lectured in Topeka Thursday was the house guest of Mrs. J. W. Thursday, and Friday Mrs. Thursday gave a luncheon in her home. Covers were laid for Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. S. S. Estey, Mrs. W. A. McCarter, Mrs. C. J. Evans, and Mrs. Thurston. Mrs. Thomas left Thursday evening for Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Bowman entertained their bridge-dinner club Friday night. The table was attractive in Easter decorations, and the members of the club who attended were: Justice and Mrs. Rosseau A. Burch, Mrs. and Mrs. J. S. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Bowman.

Guests who attended an Easter party Friday night at the home of Miss Ruth School, were: Miss Esther Chance, Miss Hazel Rucker, Miss Christina Ward, Miss Dorothy Crichton, Miss Iola Stone, Miss Frances Grote, Miss Eloise Sargent, Miss Eloise Morrison, Miss Genevieve McMillan, Mr. Raymond French, Mr. Clarence Jasper, Mr. Edwin Thompson, Mr. Harry Wells, Mr. Neil Rankin, Mr. John Seybold, Mr. Henry Taylor, Mr. Millard Wear, Mr. William Eberle, Mr. Joe Fay and Mr. William McCarter.

Miss Mary Petrik has issued invitations for the certificate recital of her pupil, Virginia Bisco, Thursday evening, April 8, at Unity church. She will be assisted by Miss Lucile Grote, soprano.

Some of the members of the younger crowd are arranging to give a subscription dancing party Tuesday night at Kellam hall.

The other guests were: Miss Dorothy Dickey and Miss Nannie Lyle Dickey, cousins of Miss Jarrell, Miss Helen Lucas, Miss Betty Edson, Miss Elizabeth Hopkins, Miss Mary Paxton and Miss Marian Williams.

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club will meet with Mrs. T. V. Campbell, 1637 Clay street, next Wednesday.

The elementary teachers, who are in the training school for Sunday school workers will meet with Mrs. D.

Mr. Talbot explained the opposition that defeated the amendment as coming from the lobby of privately owned public utilities. The state already has a law allowing the city to own their public utilities, but that law is subject to repeal by such laws as were introduced in the last session, prohibiting the public ownership of utilities. Margaret Mason writes the following from London about the new fad:

"Watch your step" may be a watchword in the good old U. S. A. But it's a "watch your wrist" in London.

Where you pass the time of day on every hand. Along the Strand, Piccadilly or Kingway.

These are pulsing times in England. Hence the wrist watch reigns supreme. Every blooming Britisher you meet has one up his sleeve. They're bound to hit—the States soon with an awful wallop. Oh! yes; I know Harold and Clarence and the rest of the big boys have been hearing them for many months. But over here it is the big, brave, husky Johns that are sporting the wristlet ticktocks as well as Cyril and Percy. It will probably take a big, brave man to start the fad in New York, too.

Like all the other new fashions nowadays the present wristlet watch is a result of the war. Unlike the majority of our fashions it has the distinction of possessing useful, sensible, necessary and to this timely characteristics as well as ticks.

The watches with the luminous dial and hands are especially handy for the night. The table was attractive with phosphorus or radium as they lightly call it over here, and Tommy Atkins lying in the dark trenches in the night, the glow of the watch was a help by with leaden feet can now watch them tick by with light hands. Every fighting man wears one of these illuminating and illuminating time pieces. They are part of his regular kit and built according to army specifications. They are neat, small, unadorned affairs of silver, steel, nickel or gold to suit your whims or your pocketbook, and they are slipped into the narrow, unobtrusive wrist strap of leather which fastens as securely and inconspicuously as possible.

The straps of mouse gray, undressed leather are perhaps the most popular as well as the best looking and you can become the proud possessor of one of these timely conceits for a pound or five dollars of regular money.

Our American correspondents have already succumbed to the alluring charms of the wristlet watch. They are bound to import them to our masculine midst and forearms.

Truly the American man fighting his battles in the trenches of Wall Street, needs a time limit on his pulse.

He ought to find one a great help when he encounters the cross dance hall canter and hesitation sorters. The bon vivant ought to revel in a wrist watch. Think of the ease with which a wrist watch can realize that even his little watch is all lit up, too.

Oh! the possibilities of the wrist watch in the U. S. A. are unlimited. Watch out for the American invasion of the same. Hands across the sea are all due to be duded up in timely timepieces. A kind of a wrist watch on the hand is worth two in the pocket. If you just once get the wrist watch fever in your blood it's bound to stay on your pulse.

As for the ladies, they are showing wristlet watch effects that are most artistic. The most fascinating are fine, thin, platinum studded affairs, either square or hexagon in shape, and worn on narrow wristbands of black moire ribbon. These are much more effective than the gold bracelet setting, although some lovely things are shown in the metal bracelet models. Especially exquisite in this style are the enameled effects. Grays, gobbins and mauve shades are mostly exploited in the enamel and the black enamel in combination with white or with brilliant is very smart for the ribbon set watches.

The narrow, oval-shaped wrist watches that we have had so long in America are being used a great deal over here now but the model that is wound up to the very last second of timeliness and at the same time second to none is the tiny inch or inch and a half square platinum watch on the wrist band of black moire.

Infinitesimal watches set in finger rings are another recent offering, but as they are neither very practical or particularly beautiful they will undoubtedly be a thing of the past and turn their too wee open faces to the wall of fashionable oblivion.

There is a limit to time reduction and midday looking for a good time doesn't wait her minutes too minute.

Do You Tempt the Burglar?

Burglars have a way of "knowing" just about where you'd keep those jewels, that plate, your valuable papers, etc. They make that sort of thing their business. As long as you keep such things in the home, you tempt them at the probable risk of your life or some one of your family.

A box in our big steel and concrete vault would prove the cheapest and best burglar insurance. Less than a cent a day pays for some boxes.

You Have a Right to Know

Why You Are Asked to Elect

J. C. SNEDIKER

to the Board of Education

With two large schools and one of less size on the North Side, there is a need at this time, of a member of the board who resides in that section of the city. J. C. Snediker was asked to become a candidate that there might be presented to the voters of the city a man of unquestionable character, and of proven business ability—a man that you need not have the least hesitancy in voting for

That the man you are asked to elect is the manager of the Austin-Snediker Merc. Co. on the North side, and has been in business at that location for eight years. That he is not a politician—just a busy man of business—always keenly interested in school, church and civic affairs. That
